Dear Mark,

We recently had some difficulty finding a solution to clean the loading docks at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia that would be acceptable to their Environmental Safety Department. We had originally recommended a solution with a pH of over 11 and, when used as the directions specified, did not provide the results that our customer desired, and left a by-product that was considered environmentally unfriendly by the hospital.

Your recommendation enabled us to use your product, FleetKleen, that had a pH of less than 8 while providing cleaning results well beyond our wildest expectations. The folks at Children's Hospital were ecstatic with the results and their environmental department was extremely impressed with the composition of the runoff solution. Your product provided a safe, environmentally clean, alternative to a difficult and potentially environmentally hazardous situation.

FleetKleen proved to be a perfect solution for our problem and ensured our company continued business from Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. Thanks for your support, recommendations, and excellent products.

Yours Truly

Mark Greene
